WILL HAND DOWN RULING MONDAY

Court's Decision in White Slave Case.

Will Then Be Determined Whether It Will Go To Jury—All of Yesterday's Session Taken Up in Argument Regarding Constitutionality of Act and the Motive of Congress in Passing Measure—Law in Condensed Form.

When United States court adjourned yesterday afternoon until Monday morning at 10 o'clock the court had not decided whether it was necessary for the jury to pass upon the noted white slave case, which has been before the court since Thursday afternoon. All of yesterday was taken up in arguing the construction to be placed on the act and the constitutionality of the measure if it was to be construed as contended by the government. Judge Boyd announced that he would render his decision Monday morning.

This is the first case of like nature to come before a court since the act was passed and therefore there is no precedent to be guided by. The court remarked yesterday afternoon that, usually where such a condition exists it has been customary for the trial court to validate an act if there was some doubt as to its constitutionality and it was not plain that it was unconstitutional and this will most likely be done in this instance, provided the court holds that the act has been violated under the construction placed on it by the court.

Yesterday District Attorney Holton and Assistant Judge Coble argued ably in support of their contentions that the act had been wilfully violated and that Congress had power to pass the law, in that it dealt with interstate commerce.
They pointed out that men and women become commerce when they are hired or induced to go from one state to another to engage in various occupations, citing decisions to uphold their contentions. The defense denied that people were articles of commerce and declared that Congress had no right to prevent a person from going from one state to another, even though they went for immoral purposes.

The report of the committee that prepared the bill was read, this report stating the purpose of the act, and it declared that the act was not intended to apply to prostitutes or any person going from state to state even though they went for that purpose. In view of this report the defense contended that the act was not meant to apply to such cases as the one in court. It is upon this point that the court will have to pass and in case Judge Boyd is of the opinion that it was intended to apply to such cases then he will pass upon its constitutionality. If he decides in favor of either of the contentions of the defense the case will be over, otherwise it will go to the jury.

Judge Boyd remarked yesterday afternoon that it looked almost ridiculous for the United States court to be willing away its valuable time considering a case that rightfully came under the state law and one that any magistrate could decide in thirty minutes. He said that with the testimony produced in court before it a state court could send both the girls and the parties running the show to the chaingang and should do it, and not only these but every man who went in to see the girls expose themselves, declared his Honor. He commented on the fact that the fair associations should see to it that no such shows are allowed to exhibit on their midways.

What is known as the "white slave traffic act" is among the most recent laws placed upon the statute books of the United States. It was enacted at the last session of Congress and became a law about the first of March of this year. The bill in Congress was entitled "A bill to regulate and prevent the transportation in interstate and foreign commerce of women and girls for immoral purposes." Not only does the bill make unlawful the transportation of women and girls from one state to another within the United States, but it also makes it criminal to carry on such trade with foreign nations by bringing women into this country or in carrying them to other countries for immoral purposes.

Section 2 of the act makes it unlawful for any person to "transport or cause to be transported, or aid or assist in obtaining transportation for, or in transporting in interstate or foreign commerce, or in any territory or in the District of Columbia, any woman or girl for the purpose of prostitution or debauchery, or for any other immoral purpose, or with the intent and purpose to induce, entice, or compel such woman or girl to become a prostitute or to give herself up to debauchery, or to engage in any other immoral practice." It goes further and makes it unlawful for one to procure a ticket or other evidence of the right to transportation for such woman or girl under such circumstances or with such intention. One violating this section shall be guilty of a felony and may be fined not exceeding $5,000, or sentenced to imprisonment not exceeding five years, or both in the discretion of the court.

Section 3 of the act makes it unlawful for any person to "persuade, induce, entice, or coerce, or cause to be persuaded, induced, enticed or coerced, or aid or assist in same, any woman or girl to go from one place to another in interstate or foreign commerce, or in any territory or in the District of Columbia for the purpose of prostitution or debauchery, or for any other immoral purpose, or with the intent that the woman or girl shall engage in any of these things or any immoral practice, whether with or without her consent;" or if such person shall aid or assist or cause or cause such woman or girl to be carried on any lines of interstate or foreign commerce, or common carrier or carriers between the states, or between the United States and a foreign country, or in any territory or in the District of Columbia. This also is made a felony, and any one convicted of a violation may be fined not exceeding $5,000 or imprisoned for not more than five years, or both in the discretion of the court.

A law of this kind and an appropriation of $50,000 to be used by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor for the employment of special inspectors were recommended by President Taft in his message to Congress a year ago, and it was in consequence of this recommendation that the act was passed. There is also an agreement between the civilized nations of the world that they will assist each other in an endeavor to break up the practice between the different nations.

President Taft expressed in his message some doubt as to the constitutionality of such an act. Three southern members of Congress, recognizing state rights, made a minority report as members of the committee on interstate commerce of the House, and opposed it vigorously on the floor of the House.
Several able speeches were made and they furnished considerable material for lawyers who wish to argue the unconstitutionality of the act when its enforcement is undertaken.

A MUSICAL EVENT.

Distinguished Musicians to Give Concert At Normal Tuesday Night.

The concert to be given next Tuesday night at the Normal College promises to be unusually attractive. Miss Florence Larabee, the pianist, is a player of great temperamental force and wherever she has played she has won enthusiastic applause. She enjoys the distinction of having been invited to play with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Miss Florence Hardeman is the violinist for the evening. For several seasons she was the soloist with Sousa's Band.
Her status as a player and musician needs no other endorsements. A recent criticism of Miss Hardeman says: "Her violin playing was the most impressive episode of the evening and the feelings of the audience found vent in tumultuous applause that brought the artist back again and again to bow her appreciation."

The young ladies have played at the White House and the Governor's Mansion in Richmond, Va.

The program of the concert will be published in the Tuesday's press.

The Thom Mill To Open.

The old Thom mill, better known as the Huffman mill, five miles south of Greensboro, which has been closed for some time, will reopen tomorrow under the direction and in the firm name of Steed's Turning and Novelty Works.
In connection with their regular line of work they are to do a general grinding and sawing business. Their phone number is 985.

John Weatherly, Caterer.

Mr. John Weatherly has been engaged by Mr. E. M. Andrews as caterer for a barbecue on the occasion of a big land sale to be held at Clio, S. C., December

HOSTESS OF THE WOMAN'S CLUB

Literature Department Entertained Yesterday

Most Interesting and Enjoyable Occasion At Elks' Club—Miss Adelaide Fries, of Winston, and Mr. R. D. W.
Connor, of Raleigh, Guests of Honor—Made Enjoyable Talks—Occasion Was the Observance of North Carolina Day.

"Then come, all loyal women, who love the Old North State, Join with us in the effort to make her truly great:
To uplift all her people, by noble thoughts and deeds,
For 'tis aspiring effort which onward, upward leads."

The same patriotic spirit which inspired that loved and honored North Carolina club woman, Mrs. R. R. Cotton, to write the above lines—the last verse of an inspiring ode, set to music by Mrs.
E. C. Duncan, of Raleigh, and adopted by the State Federation of Women's clubs as their battle hymn—brought to the Elks club building yesterday afternoon a notable assembly of Greensboro women—an assembly representing the culture, intelligence and progressiveness of the good Old North State, which, among the many other great things of which she has reason to feel proud, is blessed with fair and loyal daughters—fair, not only of form and feature, but fair minded, broad, honest and earnest when it comes to any thing touching her good name—counting it their highest privilege to "protect and defend her."

The occasion was the observance of North Carolina Day by the literature department of the Woman's club, in accordance with plans adopted by the State Federation, with outlined programs for appropriate exercises. Added interest and inspiration were furnished by the presence, as honored guests, of those who arranged, or rather suggested the program, these being Miss Adelaide Fries, of Winston-Salem, chairman literature department of State Federation, and Mr. R. D. W. Connor, of Raleigh, secretary North Carolina Historical Society.

The exercises opened with Mrs. Tenny, chairman of the department, presiding, who, in a graceful and timely ten minute talk, explained the object of the meeting and why North Carolina day should be observed. From the standpoint of one who, not having had the good fortune to be born in the State, had adopted it, she paid a well-deserved tribute to its advantages and attractions, explaining that one who had, after looking them all over, voluntarily come into a state to take up his permanent abode, showed, in reality, more genuine appreciation than the native, who was allowed no choice in the matter.

A well-prepared and thoughtful paper on the North Carolina flag, its dates, etc., was then read by Dr. Joy Harris-Glascock, who kindled anew the patriotic fires in the hearts of her listeners—if any there were who needed it—making an earnest plea for the perpetuation of the state emblem which was fast being supplanted by Old Glory, and which, but for the thoughtful kindness of individuals, such as shown by a member of the Greensboro Woman's club in her recent presentation of a flag to the public library of this city, few of the children of today would recognize it when they saw it—so unfamiliar would it be.

This was followed by a chorus: "Ho, for Carolina," in which the singers showed that they had caught the spirit which permeated the atmosphere.

The chairman then introduced Miss Fries, who, after explaining that she did not come expecting to make a talk, proved herself equal to the occasion and talked so entertainingly of club work in North Carolina, especially in the literature department, and so encourage-ly of the progress made by the Greensboro club, that all were sorry when she sat down and would have liked to have heard further from her. Among other interesting announcements she stated that the literary contest this year would be on literary and historical papers—same as last—the literary subject being: "What is the work of the clubs worth?" and the historical, a history of the writer's own county—neither paper to occupy over ten minutes. Every federated club in the state is asked to send papers.

Next on the program was the singing of the Federation song, reference to which was made at the beginning of this article, many of the club women hearing it for the first time and all expressing appreciation of its lofty sentiment.

Attention was now centered on Mr.
Connor, whose address had been looked forward to as the feature of the day, and those who had come prepared to hear something worth while were more than pleased with his handling of an old subject—The Beginning of English America—so old that it would seem impossible to invest it with new interest unless embellished by romance and illuminated by imagination. But not so with Mr. Connor. He is a student of history —careful and accurate, yet has the rare faculty of weaving from bare facts and dry figures stories of human interest—stories which are never old and which grow in significance with the years, as their bearing upon future events is revealed. Space will not allow us to give the address in full, which was interesting and instructive throughout.

The exercises closed with the singing of the Old North State, after which an informal reception was held in honor of the visitors.

MRS. F. M. DAUGHERTY DEAD

Was Before Marriage Miss Jennie Woodard—Passed Away In Philadelphia Early Yesterday Morning—Remains Will Be Brought Here Today.

Mrs. Frank M. Daugherty, of Philadelphia, Pa., formerly Miss Jennie Woodard, of this city, died at Rush hospital, Philadelphia, yesterday morning at six o'clock. She was taken desperately ill on Monday, but hopes of her recovery were entertained and the sad news came as a great shock to the entire family. Her mother was with her in her last hours.

Mrs. Daugherty was born Oct. 27, 1891.
She was converted when only eight years old and joined Centenary M. E. church, South, of which church she remained a member until her death. She had been in bad health for the past six years.

She had a kind and gentle disposition and was loved by all who knew her. She had a heart full of sympathy for those in sorrow and trouble, and her untimely death will be widely deplored.

She is survived by her husband, Mr.
Frank M. Daugherty, of Philadelphia, her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. R.
L. Woodard, of this city, two brothers and one sister, also an aunt, Miss Myrtle Woodard, who has always made her home with the family.

The remains of Mrs. Daugherty will reach here today. Final arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

Smoker At M. & M. Club.

The smoker given last night by the members of the Merchants and Manufacturers' club was enjoyed by quite a number of gentlemen composing that organization. Refreshments were served and music was furnished by Hood's orchestra. The occasion was one in which everyone took part in a free and easy manner; and under the influence and in the atmosphere of the graces of my lady Nicotene, man's whims were catered to, the accumulated cares of a week were dispelled, and sorrows both real and fancied, were swallowed up in homely joys and masculine satisfaction.

Will Go To Canada To Live.

Mr. H. M. Patterson and family will leave here next Saturday or Sunday for Minneapolis and after a few days there will go on to Regina, Province of Saske-atchewan, Canada, where Mr. Patterson will be located as manager for the Aultman and Taylor Machinery Co. Mr. Patterson has been traveling in this section for the Aultman-Taylor concern since 1902. He returned yesterday morning from the company's factory at Mansfield, O., having closed the contract by which he goes to Canada to live. He and his family have numerous friends here who will regret their departure.

Glenn Williams Case In January.

Just before federal court adjourned yesterday Judge Bynum announced that the little son of N. Glenn Williams was quite ill and Mr. Williams would hardly be able to leave his bedside next week. So it was agreed to let the celebrated libel case go over until an adjournd term in January, possibly about the second week, as it will take fully a week to try the case. The exact date will be fixed Monday.

The Street Lamps.

The new street lamps were due to be shipped yesterday from the factory and are expected to arrive by Dec. 15. As soon as the lamps arrive they will be placed in the central section of the city at once.

THE POULTRY SHOW BEGINS ON TUESDAY

Second Annual Event Promises to Eclipse Initial Show of Last Year—The Show Will Be At 229 South Elm and Will Continue Through Thursday.

The second annual poultry show, conducted by the Guilford Poultry Association, will open at 229 South Elm street December 13, and will close December 15.

The exhibition last year was held in Neesse's hall, and succeeded even beyond the most sanguine expectations. There was fostered a great interest in an enterprise in which almost every family is to some degree engaged, and the promoters say that since last year's show, hardly a day has passed that some one has not inquired where he could get this or that variety of eggs for hatching.

The next event promises to eclipse the first, and the association urges the assistance and co-operation of those who are interested in poultry raising, in order that it may reach its coveted position of doing good to the greatest number in this section.

Wednesday afternoon, December 14, will be "Normal Day," and it is expected that the students from that institution will be at the show.

Thursday, December 15, will be
"school day," and tickets have been distributed to the teachers in the white schools of the county, through the office of the county superintendent of public instruction. The bearer of such ticket properly filled out will be entitled to free admission.

Presidents of locals unions of the Farmers' Union of Guilford county who have sent to the secretary their name and number and membership of their union not later than November 15, have had forwarded to them entrance cards for each member.

The organization is permanent, and with the proper encouragement and cooperation, it will grow larger and better as the years pass. Expenses are not by any means light, but there is a margin sufficient to allow premiums that are both reasonable and sufficient to encourage all poultry raisers to have a part in the show.

UNCLE SAM'S CHILDREN

According to Census There Are Nearly Ninety Two Million on Continent.

Washington, Dec. 10.—The population of the United States is 93,462,151. This is the total number of people enumerated throughout the States, Territories, District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico in the thirteenth census, which began April 15, 1910. The total does not include the Philippines.

The increase in the country's population during the last ten years was 16, 145,521, or 20.9 per cent over 77,256,630 and the population in 1900, compared with an increase of 14,276,864, or 22.7 per cent over 62,979,766, the population of 1890.

The population of Continental United States is 91,972,266, an increase of 15, 977,691, or 21.0 per cent over 75,994,575 in 1900, when the increase was 13,046,861 or 20.7 per cent over 62,947,714, the total in 1890.

EUTERPE CLUB

Business Meeting—Interesting Papers——Next Meeting January 7.

The regular meeting of the Euterpe Club was held yesterday afternoon in Miss Woodard's studio. After the business session, Miss Dorsett read a sketch of Proch, Kueken, Abt. Mrs. Van Nop-pen read an interesting paper on Men-delsohn, dealing principally with his immediate ancestors.

The next meeting of the club will be on January 7, 1911.

Still Winning.

Those who are interested in college and high school athletics will be glad to know that Lunsford Richardson, one of the star players in both baseball and football contests of the Greensboro High School, is gaining even higher laurels at Davidson, having made the touch-down in the game for Davidson against the U. N. C. team. At the close of the season he was awarded the "D," being the third freshman who has won such honor at Davidson.

Epworth League Notice.

There will be the regular meeting of the West Market Epworth League next Monday evening at eight o'clock. A very interesting program has been prepared by the second vice president. The public is cordially invited. Secretary.

GOOD PRICE FOR THE PRIZE CORN

From Eighty Cents to $7.66 Per Bushel.

Mr. C. D. Benbow Purchased Seventy-

Five Ears For Five Dollars and Seventy-Five Cents—Total Amount Sold Brought Over Eighty Dollars—The Boys Enthusiastic At Success—The Banquet Enjoyed by About Seventy-Five People.

The price of corn in Guilford yesterday was the highest in the history of the county. At the court house nearly forty bushels were sold and the average price was over $2 per bushel. The highest price was $5.75 for three pecks, or $7.66 per bushel, and the lowest price was 80 cents a bushel. This was select corn raised by the contestants in the Boys' Corn Club.

The boys who raised the corn were on hand and from the pleased look on their faces during the sale it was evident that they were proud of the fact that they could raise corn. As a result the boys turned their faces homeward last evening with a look of determination on their faces to bend every effort to do much better next year and make the boys in the other counties hustle or get left behind. In fact one Guilford boy won third prize in the fifth district this year, but his name was not entered through an oversight. However, this will be straightened out and he will yet get the coveted honor.

The corn was sold in the court house during the session of the Guilford Agricultural Association, which body conducted the contest, or rather offered the prizes. About two hundred farmers were in attendance and the meeting was a most enthusiastic one. Mr. T. E.
Parker made a practical address on general farming methods, at the conclusion of which the corn was sold. The parcels brought in by the different boys were displayed and the collection would have done credit to a county fair. The specimens were admired, tested and praised by all.

When the auctioneer placed the first lot on the judge's desk, (seventy-five ears raised by Vannie Summers, who raised 86 1-2 bushels on an acre), and Mr. C. D. Benbow in answer to the auctioneer's "how much will you give for this fine seed corn?" calmly replied $5.75, consternation was written on the faces of some who had hoped to get good corn cheap. Mr. Benbow purchased twenty-four parcels, the total price paid being $58, or $2.33 per parcel. Sixteen other parcels were sold, bringing $24.80.
The total for the forty parcels was $82.80.

After the sale the boys proceeded to the Guilford Cafe where they banqueted together. A large number of the members of the association joined the boys, there being 69 seated at the table. Following a varied menu served by Manager Cobb, Toastmaster Foust called for speeches. Messrs. E. P. Wharton, J. N.
Wilson and I. O. Schaub spoke words of encouragement to the boys and made every one feel that he had been successful in his undertaking. To the boys who failed to win prizes this year the speakers pointed out that the fact that they had failed to win this time should only serve to urge them on to greater and more determined efforts in the future. "We look to you boys," they said, "you who in a few years will be the farmers of our county, to place Guilford in the front ranks of the agricultural counties in the South. We know you can do it and we will ever stand ready to give any assistance possible. Let the good work go forward."

Prizes To Men.

The prizes were not awarded to the men yesterday on account of the fact that not all the contestants had reported. A committee, consisting of J. A.
Hoskins, J. G. Frazier and T. R. Foust, was appointed to decide on the winners, audit the treasurer's books and report at a called meeting to be held on the second Monday in January, at which the business of the association will be wound up and it will be decided whether the work shall continue for another year.

The City Charter.

The draft of the city charter, which was ordered to be printed, is in the hands of the printers, and will be ready for distribution by the latter part of this week or the first of next.

HOW TO CURE RHEUMATISM

It Is An Internal Disease And Requires An Internal Remedy.

The cause of rheumatism and kindred diseases is an excess of uric acid in the blood. To cure this terrible disease this acid must be expelled and the system so regulated that no more acid will be formed in excessive quantities. Rheumatism is an internal disease and requires an internal remedy. RUBBING with oils and liniments WILL NOT CURE, affords only temporary relief at best, causes you to delay the proper treatment, and allows the malady to get a firmer hold on you. Liniments may ease the pain, but they will no more cure Rheumatism than paint will change the fiber of rotten wood.

Science has at last discovered a perfect and complete cure, which is called RHEUMACIDE. Tested in hundreds of cases, it has effected the most marvelous cures; we believe it will cure you. Rheumacide gets at the joints from the inside, sweeps the poisons out of the system, tones up the stomach, regulates the liver and kidneys and makes you well all over. Rheumacide strikes the root of the disease and removes its cause. This splendid remedy is sold by druggists and apothecaries generally at 50c. and $1 a bottle. In Tablet form at 50c. and 50c. a package. Write to Bobbitt Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md. Booklet free. Tablets sent by mail.

For sale by Howard Gardner, Druggist.

"Generally debilitated for years. Had sick headaches, lacked ambition, was worn-out and all run-down. Burdock Blood Bitters made me a well woman."

Mrs. Chas. Freitoy, Moosup, Conn.
Bilious? Feel heavy after dinner? Tongue coated? Bitter taste? Complexion sallow? Liver needs waking up? Doan's Regulator cures bilious attacks. 25 cents at any drug store.

Don't think that piles can't be cured. Thousands of obstinate cases have been cured by Doan's Ointment. 50 cents at any drug store.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers rely on Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It takes the sting out of cuts, burns or bruises at once. Pain cannot stay where it is used.

KING OF PANCAKES

Railroad Policeman Eats Sixty, After Having Consumed Sixteen Boiled Eggs.

New York Press.

James McLaughlin, general yard superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, gave the men of the transfer yards between this point and Jersey City a feast today. When he sat down at the head of the loaded table he was surrounded by a group of men each strong enough to lift his own weight above his head.

McLaughlin, before he sat down, thought he understood the full significance of his invitation, but flinched a bit when he heard John Lahman give his order. Lahman is a patrolman of the road, stands about 6 feet tall and weighs about 250 pounds.

"Well, as an appetizer, I guess I'll take a dozen boiled eggs," he said.

"And that will about be your finish," remarked one of the others.

"Not mine," Lahman exclaimed. "I am willing to bet that I can eat more than any man in the State of New Jersey—and I will extend that to the whole of the United States now that I feel really hungry."

The doubters waited until the policeman had tucked away the eggs and then heard him ask for four more. By this time an immense pile of pancakes had been brought on, and the feasters considered they were imposing on McLaughlin's hospitality when they had eaten about a dozen each.

"Why pike about this affair?" Lahman asked scornfully. "Why don't you have a man's size meal?"

To give them an idea of what he meant he waded through a pile of pancakes, and, without pausing for breath, put away 60, sweetening them with two quarts of maple syrup. He complained of a slight thirst after this course, and washed down the cakes with seven cups of steaming coffee.

After this he was ready for a fresh attack on food, and gave his attention to the frankfurters and onions that bent the boards. McLaughlin began to make rapid calculations to see what dividends would be left for the stockholders of the road after the feast was paid for by the company. He had about concluded an assessment would have to be levied on them when the official counter announced that four pounds of the linked meat and twenty onions had joined the pancakes and the eggs inside Lahman.

"Ready to quit?" asked McLaughlin, displaying anxiety.

"Well, I must confess that I am not quite up to my speed, so we may as well pass to dessert," replied the patrolman.

Before the pies came on he kept in practice with 16 biscuits.

"A mere nibble," he remarked to the astounded group.

Lahman refused to content himself with a single pie, and would not give up his attack until five of the mince variety had disappeared. A jar of apples still was on the table and Lahman looked about him and began munching the fruit. Not until nine apples were gone did he consent to quit the table.

"That's the kind of eating that has kept me alive 66 years," the policeman said complacently, as he picked at a bunch of grapes.

Saved From Awful Death.

How an appalling calamity in his family was prevented is told by A. D. McDonald, of Fayetteville, N. C. R. F. D. No. 8. "My sister had consumption," he writes, "she was very thin and pale, had no appetite and seemed to grow weaker every day, as all remedies failed, till Dr. King's New Discovery was tried, and so completely cured her, that she has not been troubled with a cough since. Its best medicine I ever saw or heard of." For coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, hemorrhage-all bronchial troubles, it has no equal, 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

FARMERS OF STATE TO MEET THIS WEEK

Annual Session of State Union Will Be Held at State Normal College on Wednesday and Thursday—Large Representation of the Membership Throughout State Will Be Present.

The annual meeting of the State Farmers' Union will be held in the auditorium of the State Normal and Industrial College on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. A number of matters of importance will be considered and a full representation from the different county unions is expected. In addition a large number of prominent farmers from all parts of the State have signified their intention of being present.

There are 56 county unions, composed of 1500 locals, with a membership of more than 40,000. The membership has more than doubled since the meeting of the union here last December. At the first of November the figures were as printed above and the officers believe that the reports that will be handed in Wednesday will show a still larger increase.

A number of the more prominent farmers, together with the State executive committee, will meet here Tuesday night and discuss a number of matters that will come before the organization for consideration. One of the matters of interest that will be considered during the sessions will be concerning the establishment of county agricultural schools. The union will frame up recommendations to be presented to the legislature at the coming session. At present agriculture is taught in a manner in the rural schools, but the farmers feel that the State should make an appropriation for county agricultural schools working on a much larger scale, the county to appropriate a like sum for the maintenance of such schools.

A Quick Wooing

By F. A. MITCHEL

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Summer was ended; autumn was dying. A gentleman entered a cemetery, called to one of the workmen employed there, led him to a grave and directed him to take up certain plants that needed to be housed in winter. The matter having been attended to, the gentleman started to walk to the gate and thence to go home.

The day had been dreary, but suddenly a soft red glow spread over the city of the dead. The gentleman stopped. A short distance down the avenue on which he was walking, at a point where it entered another avenue, he saw in a lot inclosed by an iron fence a young woman in deep mourning kneeling beside a grave. Her face was lowered so that he could not see it, at least but a part of it, and the hands were clasped in an attitude of prayer. The picture was tinged by the heavenly light that came from the setting sun.

How often and by what singular incidents are revolutions effected in us! This man had buried his wife two years before and had buried with her, so he thought, his heart. He had since met women by the dozens who would have been glad to take the place she had left vacant. Not one of them had appealed to him in the slightest. Perhaps there was that in all of them which jarred upon his relations with the dead. They seemed to him to be of the world, while he was bound to one who was not of the world. In the picture before him he saw a counterpart of his own condition. It was life, but life reaching out for another existence—a link of sympathy by which he might regain his hold upon that chain of human affections which is changing throughout our lives.

He went on, but stopped again, this time within a short distance of the mourner. There, uncovering, he stood, his head bowed, his hands crossed before him, his whole attitude bespeaking reverence till the prayer was finished and the lady rose from her knees. Then for the first time she saw a man standing with head bowed so low that he was evidently not aware that she had finished her prayer.

She announced the fact by a slight cough. "Madam," said the gentleman, putting on his hat, "I am sorry to have intruded at a moment when it seems that the world should leave you absolutely alone that you may commune with one who has gone before you. Having intruded, I could but act as I would were I in a temple consecrated to the communion between the quick and the dead."

"I am touched, I assure you, with your reverence and your sensibility to our most sacred feelings. You must be one who has suffered." Her face, being turned toward him, showed one of those especially feminine faces in which Italian artists for centuries have been striving to portray the mother of God. And above her brow was something which to the observer took the place of a Madonna's celestial circlet. It was a widow's cap.

When November is fading into its successor, December, the night comes on apace. The red light in the west died and seemed to take with it all that was left of the day.

"Madam," pursued the gentleman, "it is quite a walk to the cemetery entrance, and the twilight is already gone. I beg of you to permit me to see you at least to a carriage."

"One whose delicacy of feeling I have so recently witnessed may see me anywhere," replied the lady. And so this man who had not lowered the band that he had put on his hat for his dead wife two years before by a single inch walked beside the lady in her spotless widow's cap for nearly a mile, each too reverential of the other's feelings even to mention the bereavement that had brought them to the cemetery. When they reached the gate it was quite dark. The gentleman called a carriage, put the lady into it and, being invited to enter, did so and rode to her home.

Here were two people both of whom were living for the dead because they needed something to break the current that held them under its control. What no beauty in shining silk could do for the man this woman in somber black and under a widow's cap had done for him. What no other man could do for this woman this one by a single act, indicating that he knew her feelings and sympathized with them, did for her. Nor was it something to grow between them. It was instantaneous. Each had long been needing a break from an unnatural brooding, and when the break came both grasped for it eagerly.

It was quite dark when they drew up before the lady's home. "I feel so indebted to you," she said, "that I wish you to come in, even if for a moment." He feared he would intrude. He was urged and gave way. He went into the house, remained to dinner and passed the evening. When he left it was midnight, but he departed with a lighter heart than that with which he had entered.

Spring came, but the usual vernal planting that these two had remembered for years was forgotten. There were flowers, but they were not laid on graves. They were orange blossoms, and they covered the robe the widow wore to her bridal. In the groom's buttonhole was a single crysanthemum.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water? If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Cantharides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Norfolk is just completing a $275,000 school building. Norfolk is a progressive city. Any city is progressive when it looks out properly for its children.

The Winston Journal's "Southbound Edition" is magnificent. The management is entitled to hearty congratulations.

There should be a large attendance tomorrow at 11 a. m. at the Guilford hotel for the meeting to organize a Guilford county good roads club. A county can't have too many good roads.

In giving up the position of city superintendent of health, Dr. Edmund Harrison does not give up his place as a member of the Board of Health. That is a matter upon which the city is to be congratulated. He has been very efficient as chairman of the board and he will continue to be useful as a member of the board, his long experience standing the board in good stead. There is hardly a more important arm of the city government than the Board of Health.

We wonder if the people understand that the papers have, to a degree, to carry the burdens of every church and lodge in town. In many towns church and lodge notices are paid for. They are not paid for in Greensboro. The papers here carry in the run of a year hundreds of columns of such matter in order to win the good will of their patrons. The reader of this note may expend energy on one, or two, or maybe four organizations. The newspaper force has to expend energy on every single one of them. We were saying that we didn't believe this fact is perfectly understood; else we wouldn't be called on, as we are not infrequently, to take these notices over the telephone—they would be brought in in all cases and they would be carefully prepared so that the labors of the newspaper people in connection therewith might be lightened as much as possible.

Congressman Claude Kitchin is one of the ablest of the men North Carolina has in Congress. He is perhaps the most widely known of the State's representatives in the lower House, having been conspicuous in the tariff debates of the House. He is a pronounced advocate of tariff reform and from a recent interview which he gave the Baltimore Sun it is learned that he proposes to show up the administration of the country's naval affairs as wasteful and ill considered. He believes that fifteen millions or so can be saved annually on naval expenditures. A striking peculiarity in the conduct of naval affairs that he points out is the fact that the policy is to spend all, or practically all, of the appropriation on battleships and almost nothing, by comparison, on the smaller type of vessels. It is a stock criticism of the Democrats that they can do nothing but criticize the Republicans, and cannot offer a substitute for the programs with which they are dissatisfied. But Mr. Kitchin talks like he is armed with facts and figures and is prepared to demonstrate his propositions. There is a need for able and thoroughly posted Representatives of the Kitchin type.

It would certainly seem that Greensboro is entitled to more than one express a day from the North. With all of the trains that come into and through the town one would think that there would be express coming in here several times a day. Representatives of the Southern Express Company say the trouble is the railroad doesn't run enough trains, or enough trains that carry express. This seems to clear the Express company of blame and makes the Southern responsible for the poor express service.

It is to be hoped that the Chamber of Commerce will not give up the fight. Let it go after the Southern. The commercial organizations at Danville, Reidsville, High Point and Salisbury would no doubt co-operate heartily as they suffer as badly from inadequate express facilities as Greensboro. If strong pressure were brought to bear upon the Southern from all these sources, it would probably run an express coach on No. 37. We understand that that is one of the Southern's crack trains. It appeals mightily to wealthy tourists. In fact, it rather seems to us that the Southern is disposed to look after the tourists at the expense of the plain people along the line. And it may be that this is so because the plain people along the line are too willing to put up with any sort of treatment the railroad may be disposed to accord them.

IDOLATRY IN MEXICO.

The Natives Still Sacrifice Animals to Their Favorite Gods.

It may not be as apparent, but as a matter of fact idolatry has a strong hold on the natives of the Mexican hot lands as when Cortes and his soldiers marched through them on their way to Honduras 400 years ago.

In the state of Oaxaca, in which is Tehuantepec, there is near every village some secluded spot—be it a cave, the top of a mountain or a forest encircled pool—whither the people clandestinely repair in order to make sacrifices to their gods. The favorite sacrifice is a goat, a turkey or other fowl, the head of which is cut off and buried, while the soil and the other offerings, consisting of dishes of food and a gourd filled with an intoxicating drink, are sprinkled with the blood. The place where these sacrifices are made determines their effect. If a Tehuana bears a grudge against a neighbor he will bury the head of a chicken or the bones of a dog at dead of night outside of his victim's house, though, on the other hand, if the ceremony is performed within it can bring nothing but good luck.

The natives of the isthmus firmly believe that every child at birth comes intimately connected with some beast of the jungle, and the grownup man will never hurt that particular kind of animal. If the animal dies, the child dies too. The question is to determine just what kind of an animal it is, and in order to reassure himself the father sprinkles ashes or dust on the ground outside the house at the child's birth and watches for a spoor. Everybody's Magazine.

The man who stacks up against Temptation to show how strong he is seldom wins out.

LAYMEN'S MEETING
THIS AFTERNOON

Special Services At Grace Methodist Protestant Church At Three Thirty O'clock—Several Churches Urged To Attend—The Program.

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Grace Methodist Protestant church there will be a meeting of the laymen of the several churches of the city at which several interesting addresses will be made. The Greensboro Male Chorus will have charge of the music and a special program will be rendered. Mr. F. P. Holgood will preside.

The object of the meeting is to arouse interest in the missionary work, as well as to hear reports of what work has been done since last January when the Laymen's Convention was held. The meeting promises to be as instructive as it is interesting and all laymen should endeavor to be present, if possible.

The program for the afternoon follows:

Song service.
Invocation.
"Fulfilling Promises," A. M. Scales.
"Every Member Canvassed," C. A. Hines.
"Educational Campaign," C. H. Ireland.
Open conference.

Superior Court Tomorrow.

A one week term of Guilford Superior court for the trial of criminal cases will convene tomorrow morning, Judge Lyon presiding. There are about 75 cases on the docket, the majority being of small importance. There are less than a dozen jail cases. Court will hardly be in session over four days.

A Word of Explanation

We wish to say we hope to the gratification of some who seem to have conceived the idea that because we do the best work our prices for picture framing is highest that this is a mistaken idea; as we are constantly proving that it is not necessarily the expensive material used but the extra pains taken and the perfected ideas through long experience in selecting the pattern best suited to the picture and fitting up the frames that makes them show up with the richer tone and beauty. While it is true we carry the most expensive moldings it is also true that we carry the cheapest and the happy medium which enables you to get the priced frame you like and also to get the best effects.

It will be—as ever—our pleasure to prove these statements. So don't fail to give us this opportunity and we are sure you will also be pleased.

BETRAYED BY FINGER PRINT

Colored Woman Acknowledges Her Identity When Test Is Applied.

Baltimore Sun.

The finger-print system proved effective today under the management of Police Lieutenant John A. Casey, head of the Bertillon Bureau of Identification. This morning a negro woman, who gave her name as Mary Smith, was taken to the bureau. She had been held for court by Justice Grannan, at the Central Police Station, on the charge of stealing $800 worth of clothing from Kate Askin, 283 North Exeter street.

"I think I have seen you before," said the chief of the bureau.

"Never seen me here," the woman answered sharply.

"We'll see," said Casey. "Take her finger-prints before we photograph her." Sergeants Higgins and Bahn prepared the ink plate and in a few seconds the impressions of the woman's fingers were transferred to the printed blank. A few minutes later Lieutenant Casey pulled out a card from his index and said:

"A little over a year ago you were measured in this department. You were arrested for burglary and the court sent you to the penitentiary for one year. You gave the name of Florence Green. You have been out of the 'pen' only a short time."

"You're right," the prisoner answered. "I didn't know you could tell me if I changed my name."

The police say the woman works with duplicate keys.

A Simple Safeguard for Mothers

Mrs. D. Gilkeson, 326 Ingles Ave., Youngstown, Ohio, gained wisdom by experience. "My little girl had a severe cold and coughed almost continuously. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat and after using only one bottle her throat and lungs were entirely free from inflammation. Since then I always keep a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar in the house. Accept no substitutes. Howard Gardner.

No Skill Required.

Litigant—Your fee is outrageous. Why, it's more than three-fourths of what I recovered.

Lawyer—I furnished the skill and the legal learning for your case.

Litigant—But I furnished the case. Lawyer—Oh, anybody can fall down a coal hole.—Boston Transcript.

Take Care!

Remember that when your kidneys are affected your life is in danger. M. Mayer, Rochester, N. Y., says: "My trouble started with a sharp shooting pain over my back which grew worse daily. I felt sluggish and tired, my kidney action was irregular and infrequent. I started using Foley's Kidney Pills. Each dose seemed to put new life and strength into me, and now I am completely cured and feel better and stronger than for years." Howard Gardner.

Easy Enough.

Stranger (mysteriously)—I'd like to get into a gambling game of some sort. Where can I go?

Tired-looking Man (whispering)—Over to the office of that justice of the peace. He'll marry you.—St. Louis Star.

AN ENTERPRISING UNION

Printers' Organization Has Nearly 100 Students Enrolled in Educational Course.

It is not as well known as it might be that the typographical union is interested in a trade educational project. A booklet just from the press tells us that nearly eighteen hundred students are enrolled and that lessons—which are given by correspondence—are sold below cost price. The union furnishes what in higher educational circles would be called an endowment by paying all advertising and promotional expenses and giving each person who finishes the Course from $5 up. It is estimated that from $8,000 to $10,000 a year is expended in this way by all the typographical unions.

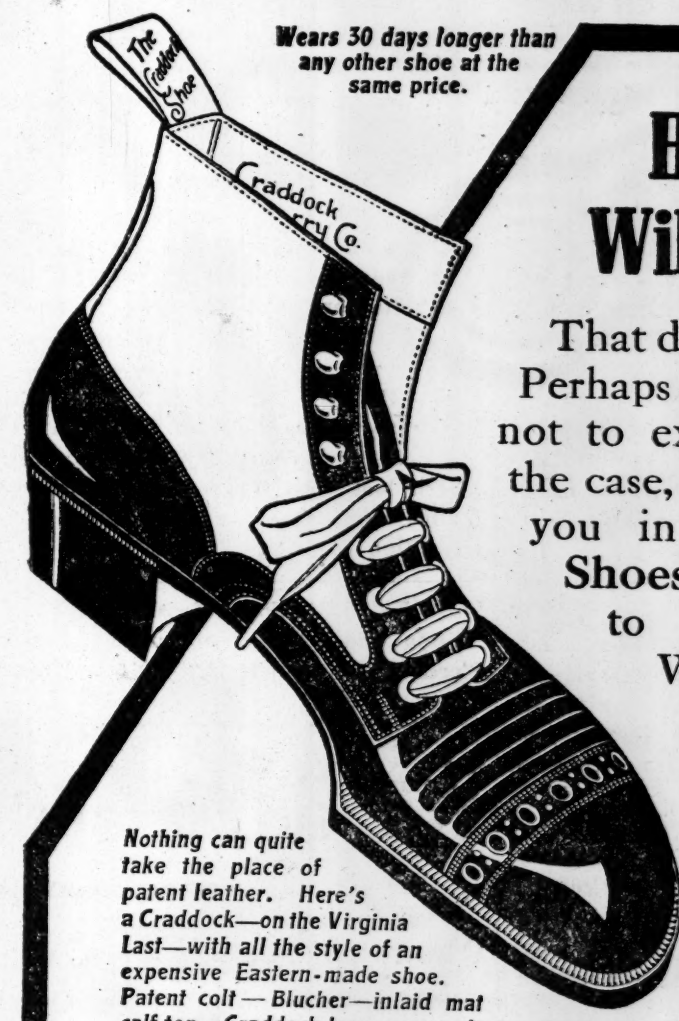

The booklet referred to contains testimonials from students of the Course, and from the youth of seventeen to the veteran of sixty-four they say the instruction given is of high value and well worth the time and money required. This is but one of the many projects sustained by the printers' union. It has spent a million dollars maintaining a home and tuberculosis sanatorium which is conceded to be in the front rank of world institutions for fighting the white plague. It has also a pension system for aged and infirm members which costs about $200,000 a year. The minimum pension is $4 a week; in the larger cities this is supplemented by the local union so that in New York pensioners draw $4 a week and in Chicago $7.

J. W. Greer, Greenwood, La., suffered with a severe case of lumbago. "The pains were so intense I was forced to hypodermic injections for relief. These attacks started with a pain in the small of my back which gradually became fairly paralyzing. My attention was attracted to Foley's Kidney Remedy and I am glad to say after using this wonderful medicine I am no longer bothered in any way by my old enemy lumbago." Howard Gardner.

Seen in a Dream.

Mr. Hilprecht, professor of Assyriology in the University of Pennsylvania in 1893, when puzzling over sketches of objects excavated at Babylon, learned in a dream the solution to the difficulty that confronted him. Two drawings represented fragments of agate inscribed with characters. They were supposed to be bits of finger rings and, being apparently of different colors, were not closely associated together by the professor. But in a dream he saw an Assyrian priest, who told him how the priests of the Temple of Bel, having received a votive cylinder of agate from their king, were ordered to make earrings for their god. They made three by cutting up the cylinder, and the professor would find by fitting the fragments together that these were two of them. He did this and found that they gave a continuous description.

Roosevelt, N. J., Cheers Verdict—Dr. Reason Too Late to Prosecute Mrs. Gleckner.

New York World.

Half of Roosevelt, N. J., crowded into the town hall last evening to hear and see the arraignment of Mrs. Valentine Gleckner, charged with assault and battery in horsewhipping Dr. J. J. Reason of that village Wednesday evening. The doctor failed to arrive in time, the case was dismissed and the crowd went home.

Dr. Reason obtained a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Gleckner yesterday morning from Recorder Leveson. At 6:30 last evening the entire police force of Roosevelt went stealthily to the Gleckner home and captured Mrs. Gleckner in a rocking chair in her parlor. She said she would be with him in a jiffy and, putting on her best bonnet, hurried to court.

She got there at 7 o'clock, accompanied by a police force, whose name is Benjamin Walling, and the populace of Roosevelt. She was heartily cheered as she tripped up the Town Hall steps.

Recorder Leveson waited a half hour for Dr. Reason and then dismissed the case. Immediately afterward Dr. Reason hurried in and explained he had been at the bedside of a patient who, desperately ill. It had been impossible for him to get there sooner. But it was too late.

Dr. Reason, somewhat chagrined that the prisoner had been let go, left without saying whether or not he would ask for another warrant. The borough of Roosevelt is anxiously awaiting the next issue of the doctor's paper, the Roosevelt News. The inhabitants believe he will have something of interest to say.

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the metallic cough of croup, bringing dread to the household. Careful mothers keep Foley's Honey and Tar in the house and give it at the first sign of danger. It contains no opiates. Howard Gardner.

It is really wonderful how quickly Vick's Croup and Pneumonia Salve breaks up a cold, croup or pneumonia symptoms. Just rub it on. Keep a jar ready.

HURRY TO COOK A STEAK MAY MEAN WIFE'S DEATH

Tries to Quicken Fire With Oil and Soon Rushes Ablaze from Her Home.

New York World.

As she was cooking a steak for her husband's supper yesterday Mrs. Annie Alexander, of No. 379 Vermont street, East New York, glanced at the clock. It was near his time for arrival and the fire wasn't satisfactory. So Mrs. Alexander, not wishing to be late with the steak, poured kerosene on the coals.

Oil splashed on her dress and caught fire. As the flames blazed up toward her face she threw the can from her, but in doing so got more oil on her clothing.

Ablaze from head to foot, Mrs. Alexander ran to the street. As she stood shrieking on the steps Patrolman Chas. Gerhardt of the Miller avenue station ran up. With is overcoat he smothered the flames. Mrs. Alexander was sent to the Kings County Hospital, where it is thought that she will die.

When John Alexander appeared for his dinner he found his wife gone and his steak burned to a cinder.

ADVICE TO PARENTS

They Should Recognize the Individuality of Their Children.

Erman J. Ridgeway in the Delineator for January.

As children grow up, many serious misunderstandings follow from the failure of parents to recognize their children's individuality.

They assume that the children are exactly like themselves, when they are often totally unlike.

If they would recognize this likeness and make allowance for it, the path to understanding would often be smoother.

The many successes achieved in bringing up adopted children—children, usually, with a very poor start, from unknown and undesirable antecedents—show what can be done when parents study their child intelligently.

Parents are often mortified when their children give more heed to the advice of others. Other people look at the children as individuals and study them without assuming to know all about them, and often discover traits entirely unsuspected by the parents. Children know and appreciate when they are being justly estimated.

Among the families of your acquaintance how many—or rather how few—fathers and mothers really know their own children?

Often parent and child are so different that they could not be expected to understand each other. But they ought at least to understand that they are different and make allowances.

It is sad to see a brilliant child in a commonplace home trying to keep its soul from overflowing the narrow limits proscribed by its parents—torn between duty and dreams.

It is sadder to see a commonplace child in a brilliant home driven and badgered, coaxed and threatened, forever forced to attempt impossibilities and always falling back hurt and humiliated.

Why can't people learn to let their children alone? Why won't parents study their children? Why won't they ask their friends to help them understand their own? And if the child is commonplace, in mercy's name let him be commonplace! He won't rise to such heights of happiness, neither will he fall to such depths of misery. If the child is a genius, in mercy's name give him a double chance! Don't get in his way and block him just because you can't understand him! Clear the track.

Most of the articles on how to choose a husband are written by women who never had a chance.

FAMOUS NOVELISTS.

What Some of Them Did Before They Took to Writing.

Among those novelists who studied law we have Fielding, Scott, Charles Reade, Wilkie Collins, Blackmore, Washington Irving, George Meredith, Robert Grant, Henry James, Anthony Hope, Rider Haggard and Owen Wister. Journalism, which Mr. Kipling once defined as the one legitimate branch of the profession, is represented by Dickens, David Christie Murray, William Black, J. M. Barrie, Marion Crawford, George W. Cable, Stephen Crane, George Barr McCutcheon, Frank Norris, Richard Harding Davis and David Graham Phillips. The navy and merchant marine have given us Smollett, Captain Marryat, Fenimore Cooper, Clark Russell, Joseph Conrad and Morgan Robertson. Artists and architects include Thackeray, Du Maurier, Hopkinson Smith, Robert Chambers, Thomas Hardy and William J. Locke. Medicine and theology are not so well represented. Under the former head we recall for the moment only Smollett (naval surgeon), Holmes, S. Weir Mitchell and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle; under the latter, Sterne, Charles Kingsley, Henry van Dyke, Edward Everett Hale, Ian Maclaren, Ralph Connor and Thomas Dixon. College professors who have either given up their chairs to become novelists or have found time for occasional novels in the midst of their other duties are Sir Walter Besant, Robert Herrick and Brander Matthews.—Bookman.

A BLOOD TAX.

Payment by a French Town to Spain For an Ancient Crime.

Seven hundred years ago some shepherds of the valley of Roncal, in Navarre, were murdered by shepherds of the valley of Bareton, in Bearn, the crime taking place on the high pasture lands of Arlas, in the Pyrenees. It would have been difficult to bring the murderers individually to justice, and the Spaniards were preparing to make war upon the valley from which the French murderers had come when the French villages proposed that peace be maintained at the price of a yearly tax or tribute, to endure for all time, and this proposition was accepted.

The payment of this blood tax—originally three white mares, but later three cows of a particular breed and color—has been made ever since, the custom (it is nothing more) having survived even the great wars in which both France and Spain have engaged and the storm of the French revolution.

Yearly the representative men of the two valleys meet on the frontier at a certain stone remote from any town and go through the ceremony of presenting and receiving the cattle. The order of procedure, which is elaborate and impressive, is fixed by a document bearing the date 1375, though the tax was paid a hundred years prior to that time. The records of each yearly meeting and payment are duly attested and deposited in the archives of the Roncalais.—New York Tribune.

The Sanity of Paris.

The French live within their means and by a sense of economy wholly unknown to us manage to save and retire to enjoy whatever fortune has stored up for them, says F. Berkeley Smith in Success Magazine. To them France is sufficient. They voyage rarely and gamble less. The spendthrift or the man who plunges on the bourse, the races and the gaming table is regarded by the masses in the light of a rogue and a fool. The Parisians work hard enough for their leisure, but they never eliminate it nor allow their work to encroach upon their traditional daily vacation, as luncheon, the aperitif hour, dinner and fete days. They work, not to amass millions and die in harness, but to save enough to give their daughter her dot, without which she may never marry; start their son in his chosen trade and have enough income left to retire before they are too old to enjoy their freedom.

IT IS ALL RIGHT

to ask a friend to do you a favor when it is impossible to secure the favor in any other way. But why ask a friend to go on your bond as surety when the Greensboro Loan & Trust Company can give better security than an individual at no extra cost for its faithful discharge of its duty as a trustee or executor or administrator. Why should you sign a bond by which your "heirs, executors, administrators and assigns are held and firmly bound" to pay for the default of others; perhaps after your death, every dollar of your estate? Tell your friend not to burden you with such a grave responsibility. Let the Greensboro Loan & Trust Company become responsible.

Talk this over with us—it will assist you.
